The golden seam

Kintsugi repairs broken pottery with lacquer dusted in gold, so the crack becomes the most visible part of the bowl. The repair is not hidden; it is part of the object’s history and its beauty.

Menders work slowly, in thin layers.

Patience

Urushi lacquer cures in a humid cabinet over weeks. Each coat must harden before the next, and rushing it ruins the seam.